DEEP CUT GARDENS TO HOST ROSE SHOW

(Photo credit: Tim Hahn)

MIDDLETOWN — Take some time to stop and smell the roses at the Jersey Shore Rose Society’s (JSRS) 44th Annual Rose Show on Saturday, September 19 at Deep Cut Gardens. Watch as roses are prepared for exhibition from 8-10 a.m.; entries will remain on exhibit from 12-4 p.m. after judging is complete. A picturesque, 54-acre horticultural site with many garden-related amenities, including its own Rose Parterre, Deep Cut Gardens is located on Red Hill Road in Middletown, just off the Garden State Parkway Exit 114.

JSRS Rose Show “Fun Facts”

- All entries are locally-grown by amateurs.
- Rose shows are a prime opportunity to view both old and new varieties of roses.

- The show is an official function of the American Rose Society, with certified ARS Horticultural and Arrangement judges.
- The show consists of horticultural, arrangement, and photography sections.
- This is the final rose show of the year for exhibitors in the area.

View locally grown roses and see how they are judged, consult visiting JSRS Rosarians on rose selection and care and take a tour of Deep Cut Gardens. Visitors may cast their vote for their favorite arrangement, which will be announced during the award ceremony at 3 p.m. This is a FREE event. For information on submitting an entry into the exhibition, please call Mary Hahn of the JSRS at 732-316-1871 or email only1mary@gmail.com.
