Monmouth County Human Services Department
Division of Juvenile Detention Alternatives

(732) 308-3770 ext. 3080

Monmouth County Division of Juvenile Detention Alternatives operates a Home Detention/Electronic Monitoring Program that serves juveniles referred by the Monmouth Vicinage, Family Division Judiciary. The County of Monmouth funds the Home Detention Program. The Division of Juvenile Detention Alternatives oversees all youth placed in the continuum of detention alternatives (as listed below). They ensure that the youth appears in court, as well as address program non compliance. The Division of Detention Alternatives is the primary contact for the program directors to notify in the event of non-compliance and/or problems with the youth.

House Arrest is a detention alternative utilized at the Judge's discretion. It allows a juvenile to be released from the detention center to a parent or guardian under specific restrictions. It also offers an option to the Judge when a juvenile appears before him on a serious charge, who is not retained, to allow the juvenile to remain at home without posing a threat to the community. The juvenile is not allowed to leave the home without a parent or guardian except to attend school or work. The local Police Department is notified of the juvenile's specific House Arrest conditions. The juvenile and his/her family are informed any violation of the House Arrest conditions will result in the juvenile's arrest and possible return to the Youth Detention Center.

➤ House Arrest A:

Supervision is primarily the responsibility of the youth's parent/caregiver. Youth may leave the house to go to school, work, and all other approved activities with the company of a parent/caregiver. There is not program capacity in terms of the number of youth served. The expected average LOS on House Arrest A is 45-60 days.

➤ House Arrest B:

House Arrest A plus daily random phone calls
Up to 4 random calls per day -If youth is compliant, phone calls may be reduced over time

Home Detention Program (HDP) is a detention alternative program utilized at the Judge's discretion. It affords the juvenile to be released from the detention center, under the supervision of the Home Detention Program Officer, to return home on an electronic monitor. The juvenile is monitored 24 hours a day through an electronic monitoring bracelet. The juvenile is given "windows" of time which are pre-documented as specific timeframes he/she will be out of the home to attend school, organized sports, church etc.. The juvenile must be in their home at all other times. Special requests may be made to the HDP Officer for additional windows for family related functions. These additional timeframes are at the discretion of the HDP Officer. The juvenile's behavior, attitude and level of supervision while exercising the "window" will all be deciding factors. A violation of the Home Detention Program could result in the immediate return of the juvenile to the detention center based on the severity of the violation.

Electronic Monitoring (EM) Expansion –GPS/Wireless EM

The goal of the Electronic Monitoring (EM) Expansion program is to provide electronic supervision that allows juveniles to remain in the community as opposed to being incarcerated in the youth detention center. Members of the Division of Juvenile Detention Alternatives rotate after hours on call to provide 24 hour a day 7 day per week coverage to respond to municipal police departments to install GPS/Wireless ankle units for juveniles deemed eligible by the court in lieu of secure detention. The Family Court Intake Officer utilizes the Risk Screening Tool to determine eligibility. Initially the youth is placed on a GPS unit and is required to attend a court hearing on the next business day, which at that time will have a wireless cellular ankle unit installed for electronic monitoring for approximately 3-5 days pending screening for placement on the traditional landline Home Detention EM program.

JDAI Community Outreach:

The goal of the Community Outreach Worker is to increase the rate of success on the detention alternative programs, House Arrest A and House Arrest B. The Outreach Worker will work with the youth and family to address challenges and barriers that hinder a youth's ability to be compliant while on an alternative often resulting in a negative program discharge. The Community Outreach Worker works with the juveniles placed on House Arrest A and B. The Community Outreach Worker's responsibilities range from initiating weekly face-to-face contacts and weekly phone contacts, connecting families to community resources, troubleshooting any issues that arise with a youth and/or family while on a detention alternative, and regularly communicating with existing detention alternative and Family Court staff.

Inter-Agency Coordination Committee (IACC)

IACC is a multi-disciplinary team consisting of mental health professionals, educators, substance abuse professionals, Family Court personnel, Office of the Public Defender, Office of the Prosecutor, JJC Court Liaison, JJC Parole representative, Division of Youth and Family Services, Division of Juvenile Detention Alternatives representatives and community agency staff established for the purpose of ensuring that the Court receive multi-coordinated input in the course of developing dispositional options for juvenile offenders. IACC reviews all children placed in the Youth Detention Center who are at risk of placement and juveniles on detention alternative status.

This program expands the Detention Alternative Continuum in Monmouth County to include wireless EM/GPS with an after hours response. The electronic monitoring wireless program is part of the continuum of services in the Juvenile Detention Alternatives Initiative and the Monmouth County Local Council on Juvenile Justice Systems Improvement (“J.D.A.I.”). As with other aspects of J.D.A.I., the goals of the electronic monitoring wireless program are: to ensure security for the safety of the public; to provide sensible alternatives to secure detention where appropriate; to provide services to juveniles who come under this program; to minimize re-arrest and failure-to-appear rates and to ensure equal treatment under the law.

The electronic monitoring wireless program provides an alternative placement to those youth who require a higher level of supervision than House Arrest A or B, but who do not require secured detention. The electronic monitoring equipment is made up of GPS units which are designed for the short-term monitoring of juveniles until a preliminary court hearing. If continued on the program, the juvenile will be placed on a wireless electronic monitoring bracelet. A maximum of ten (10) juveniles are capable of participating in the program at any one time. This program will assist Monmouth Vicinage to effectively implement the Risk Screening Tool (RST) and establish a detention alternative for youth, who score between 12 and 15 points, and qualify for placement on a cellular or GPS electronic monitoring unit after hours. The program will track and report the total number of juveniles that score between 12 and 15 points on the Risk Screening Tool; the total number of staff responses that are needed to place youth on a cellular or GPS unit after hours; the number of youth placed on cellular or GPS electronic monitoring after hours by race/ethnicity, gender, town of residence and age and the program outcomes on the detention alternative.

Juvenile Conference Committee(s)

Juvenile Conference Committees consists of volunteer members of the community, trained by court staff and appointed by the Presiding Judge of the Family Division to informally hear juvenile complaints referred by the Court. The Juvenile Conference Committees generally hear cases involving first time juvenile offenders. The Committee hears Petty Disorderly and Disorderly Person offenses, as well as some 4th degree offenses. There is no adjudication or plea of guilt and there is no formal Court record that is generated. The juvenile must appear with a parent or guardian. The victim/complainant and the police officer involved are invited to attend. The Committee makes a recommendation as to what repercussions would be appropriate based on the nature of the complaint. If the juvenile and Parent/guardian agree they will sign an agreement and comply with any conditions within a specific time frame which is set by the Committee. If there is an objection, the case can be referred to the Juvenile Referee to be addressed.

Intake Service Conference is a form of Court diversion dealing with petty disorderly and disorderly persons offenses. Indictable offenses, as well as some 4th degree offenses, can be addressed at this level with the approval of the Judge and the Prosecutor. The juvenile does not receive an adjudication or formal Court record at this level. This form of diversion is a step beyond the Juvenile Conference Committee and a level below the Juvenile Referee. The juvenile must acknowledge some involvement with the incident, which resulted in the charges. If the juvenile denies any involvement with the offense, the case is referred to the Juvenile Referee calendar. A Probation Officer conducts the conference. A parent or guardian must appear with the juvenile and the complainant is invited to attend. An Intake Service Agreement is written up stipulating certain conditions the juvenile must satisfy. The case is held open for a period of thirty, sixty or ninety days. The time frame is at the discretion of the Probation Officer. The case is closed at the Probation Officer's request if all conditions are met within the set time frame. In cases of non-compliance, the case is placed on the Juvenile Referee's calendar.

Juvenile Referee Program allows an individual, other than a Superior Court Judge, to hear cases that would normally be scheduled for a counsel non-mandatory hearing before a Family Division Judge. In Monmouth County, the Presiding Judge of the Municipal Courts hears these cases. Typical cases may include: fourth degree offenses, disorderly and petty disorderly offenses, as well as unsuccessful JCC/ISC diversions. The Referee may also hear repeat offenders that are no longer appropriate for diversion and violations of a court order which originated from a diversion or a prior Informal Court Proceeding. The Juvenile Referee will set certain conditions for the juvenile to meet and may include an informal or formal supervision period. There is no formal adjudication at this level, no plea entered and the Juvenile along with their parent or guardian may object to the Judge's recommendation and would then be scheduled to appear before a Superior Court Judge. It would be explained to the juvenile and their parent/guardian that they would be giving up their right to a diversionary process and if the juvenile is found guilty, may result in a formal court record.

The Youth Education Shoplifting Program (Y.E.S.) is a 6 hour on-line course run by the NASP (National Association for Shoplifting Prevention) and is currently being utilized by 13 vicinages in New Jersey. The course is an "offense-specific" education program which helps juveniles identify their feelings, thoughts and attitudes which lead them to shoplift and helps them make better choices for themselves and their future. This interactive program was designed as a means of early intervention for juveniles to help prevent future appearances in the juvenile justice system. Moreover, it has been shown to be 98% effective in preventing juveniles from committing a second shoplifting offense. The program is a disposition used primarily by the diversion programs.

The program is designed to expose youth as to what their lives may become should they continue to commit delinquent acts. The tour is conducted by a Corrections Officer, who is accompanied by two Probation Officers from Family Division. Participants may experience offensive language and/or gestures used toward them as a deterrent from a future life of delinquency. The parents/guardians are required to sign a consent form for the juveniles to participate in the tour, as well as, provide transportation for the juvenile to the jail.

Under the 1999 Parent Education Act, all parties in any divorce, nullity, or separate maintenance action, who have minor children, are required to attend a parent education session. The goal is to promote cooperation between the parties and to assist parents in resolving issues which may arise during the divorce or separation process. Its main focus is to assist divorcing/separating parents in the reorganization of their family by helping them to understand the legal process, the financial needs of the family, and the emotional needs of their children and provide them with the resource tools for future use in a co-parenting relationship.

Agency: Monmouth Vicinage Family Court
Program: "PARTNERS IN PARENTING"
Contact: Jane Wiegartner, Assistant Family Division Manager
Phone: (732) 677-4306

The Monmouth Vicinage is establishing a Parent Education Program for parents involved in non-dissolution (FD) matters. The program will be similar to the FM Parent Education Program in that it will target parents who have new custody/parenting time matters before the Court. The Program will be administered by Probation Officers and will provide information to parents regarding the court process, the effects of separation on children, and the importance of co-parenting and effective parenting time plans. It is anticipated that by providing information to parents, similar to what is provided to FM clients, we will promote a climate of cooperation therefore improving the rate of consent orders and thus reducing the number of court referrals. It is estimated that 2,400 clients will attend each year.

Juvenile Intense Supervision Program (JISP) JISP is a dispositional alternative utilized by the Judge when it is felt the juvenile requires more supervision than traditional Probation supervision offers. An Officer who is responsible for setting conditions and ensuring compliance monitors the juvenile. A juvenile on JISP can expect more frequent home and school visits than traditional probationers. If applicable, drug screening will also occur on a more frequent basis. Violation of any of the conditions set forth by the JISP Officer or program regulations will result in a violation being filed and violation hearing. The juvenile may be returned to the Detention Center and subsequently terminated from the program based on the severity of the violation.

Juvenile Supervision

Juvenile Supervision handles two types of Dockets: Deferred Disposition and Juvenile Probation Terms.

1. Deferred Dispositions are cases that are in Court and the disposition is deferred for up to 12 months. These cases are monitored for compliance only. Deferred Dispositions could have financial obligations, community service, drug testing, and counseling that need to be monitored. Deferred Dispositions that do not have any of the above conditions remain with the Family Division. Monitoring of the cases by Probation does not include supervision of the juvenile. If the conditions imposed by the Judge are not adhered to it may result in the matter being returned to court. Deferred Terms that have met all the conditions imposed on the court order may result in the matter being dismissed at the end of the term.

2. Juvenile Probation is cases that the Judge has placed on probation status. These cases are supervised by the Probation Division's Juvenile Unit. The case is first assigned to the Intake Unit which verifies the juvenile's address, school enrollment, and personal information; completes the Conditions of Probation and other necessary paperwork. Once the Intake Term (30 to 45 days) is completed, the case is then assigned to a Probation Officer who will remain with the case throughout the Probation Term. If the Juvenile is non-compliant with any of the Conditions of Probation, it may result in the matter being returned to Court for a Violation of Probation. During the Probation term a Home Inspection is required. This encompasses the viewing of the juvenile's sleeping area and common areas of the home. Home Visits are conducted periodically. Face-to-face contacts are required. The Probation Officer enforces the Court Order and may impose additional conditions based upon the individual needs of the juvenile.

The Boys & Girls Club of Monmouth County has been awarded a grant from the New Jersey Department of Children and Families (DCF) to implement the nationally recognized Boys & Girls Clubs of America's Gang Prevention through Targeted Outreach (GPTTO) program to serve at least 50 new youth in the City of Asbury Park, a state designated high crime community. The program will include recruitment of youth into the Boys & Girls Club, providing them with research based positive youth development programs, case management services and additional interest-based Club programs. The goal of the project is to prevent crime, deter gang involvement and help youth become successful citizens. The Club will receive support for this effort from the Boys & Girls Clubs of America (BGCA) and the New Jersey Alliance of Boys & Girls Club. The Alliance, a 501 (C) (4) organization, was formed in 1998 to promote greater coordination of efforts, continuity in service delivery and cross cutting initiatives in partnership with the state.

The Club will implement the nationally recognized Gang Prevention through Targeted Outreach Program. BGCA developed GPTTO in accordance with the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention's (OJJDP) Community-Wide model. OJJDP developed the Comprehensive Community-Wide Approach to Gang Prevention, Intervention and Suppression to address the rise in the number of gang members and violent crime and delinquency in the early 1990s. This model includes the delivery of five core strategies: community mobilization, provision of academic, economic and social opportunities; social intervention; gang suppression and organizational change and development through an integrated and team-oriented problem-solving approach.

Title IIA -Teacher & Principal Training & Recruiting - The purpose of Title II, Part A , is to increase the academic achievement of all students by helping schools and districts (1) improve teacher and principal quality through professional development and other activities and (2) ensure all teachers are highly qualified.

Title IID -Enhancing education through technology (Ed Tech) Programs. Implement and support programs that effectively use technology in elementary and secondary schools to improve student academic achievement.

Title III -This program provides funding for programs for limited-English proficient and immigrant children. These are children 3 to 21 who were not born in the US or speak a native language other than English.

Actual amounts received by LEAs will be smaller than shown here due to State-level adjustments to Federal Title I allocations. States adjust allocations, for example, to reflect LEA boundary changes or the creation of new LEAs, including charter school LEAs, that are not accounted for in the statutory calculations. States must reserve 4 percent in fiscal year 2009 for school improvement activities.

The School Funding Reform Act of 2008 (SFRA) is applied to all districts, including Abbots and therefore, the Abbots are no longer receiving the “parity” funds as in the past. The SFRA distributes aid to all school districts in an equitable and predicable basis and takes into account the needs of all students, including at-risk students, limited English proficient students, and students with special education needs. The core of the formula is the Adequacy Budget which is wealth equalized, meaning that it is based on the community’s wealth and ability to provide funding through local resources. A district’s contribution to Adequacy Budget is established after application of the Local Fair Share formula. The intent of the formula is supposed to help direct the state aid to children in need rather than to a district identified as “Abbot”. The DOE website lists each district with Summaries of their amount of State Aid for 2009-10.

The New Jersey Training School (NJTS) is the Juvenile Justice Commission's largest facility currently housing approximately 300 male juveniles. It was opened in 1867 as a home for troubled youth. Today, NJTS is a secure facility with a state of the art perimeter fence and 24-hour armed roving patrol. Residents range in age from 12 to 23 years of age with the vast majority of Residents being 16 to 18 years old. The primary focus of NJTS is to provide care, treatment and custody for juveniles committed by the courts and to create programs that will rehabilitate young offenders. NJTS campus includes seven cottages that serve as housing units, a full-service school, a vocational building, recreation facilities, a medical facility and administrative offices. The Training School offers several unique vocational opportunities including an optical lab program which teaches juveniles to craft eyeglasses. NJTS supplies eyeglasses to all juvenile and adult residents in the state. Through this program, several youth have received jobs with optical employers after their release. Another program teaches juveniles to care for small farm animals. NJTS offers vocational programs in upholstery, horticulture, welding, graphic arts, auto body, auto mechanics, building trades, machine shop, small engine repair, and radio and television communications. In accordance with the recommendations of an advisory committee convened to study the future of the Training School, the population at NJTS has been reduced to approximately 300 juveniles as a result of two new facilities which opened in 2001. The opening of the new Reception and Assessment Center has allowed for the relocation of juveniles undergoing the classification process. The Parole Readjustment Unit offers an alternative placement for juveniles returning to the Commission on parole violations.

The Juvenile Female Secure Care and Intake Facility serves as the intake and secure care unit for all juvenile females sentenced to terms of incarceration in New Jersey. It is the only secure facility in the State that provides education, treatment and custody for committed juvenile females. It is designed to hold 48 females with 8 single rooms that serve as detention cells. The primary function of the Female Secure Care and Intake Facility is to provide incentives and prepare the juvenile female for a less restrictive environment. The Commission strives to empower the juvenile females to live responsible, productive and law-abiding lives. The Secure Care Unit provides a gender specific, comprehensive, culturally diverse program to address the special needs of the juvenile female population. Programming components include a wide variety of academic instruction, physical fitness and health classes and vocational training including cosmetology and graphic arts.

The Juvenile Medium Security Facility (JMSF) is the most secure facility operated by the Juvenile Justice Commission. It provides a secure and structured environment for male juveniles committed by the courts. Most juveniles are assigned to JMSF due to poor adjustment to residential programs or the New Jersey Training School. In addition, individuals may be assigned to JMSF during their initial classification based on the seriousness of their crime. JMSF has the capacity to serve 118 male offenders. The ages of the residents range from 14 to 20. The majority of residents are 16 or 17 years old. JMSF provides training, control and rehabilitation for those young offenders who are unable to participate in a less secure setting. This diverse group of juveniles possesses serious emotional and behavioral disorders that require a highly structured and secure environment. In addition to their academic curriculum, Residents are also assigned to vocational programs designed to teach skills that they can use upon their return to the community. Vocational programs include drafting, carpentry, computer skills, graphic arts, and upholstery.

Juvenile Reception and Assessment

Center P.O. Box 679
Burlington Street
Bordentown, NJ 08505
Superintendent: Linda Thomas
609-324-6400

In 2001, the Juvenile Justice Commission opened this new 144-bed facility in Bordentown. The state-of-the-art $16 million facility serves as a comprehensive intake, assessment and classification system for young male offenders sentenced to the Commission. The Juvenile Reception and Assessment Center (JRAC) is designed to house offenders until an appropriate placement at a secure facility or a community program has been identified for each juvenile. This facility is separated into six pods each accommodating 24 juveniles and includes a separate area where juveniles are processed into the Commission's custody. One of the six pods acts as an independent Parole Readjustment Unit for juveniles who violate the conditions of their parole. The facility offers a full educational curriculum, recreation, medical services and religious opportunities.

Parole Readjustment Unit

The Commission has established one of the six pods at the Juvenile Reception and Assessment Center (JRAC) as the Juvenile Readjustment Unit to assist juvenile parolees who have difficulty reintegrating into the community after their release and who are in violation of the conditions of their parole. A thorough reassessment of each juvenile's needs results in a modified release plan often allowing the juvenile to return home to continue on parole. If it is found that this is not possible, the juvenile is placed at the appropriate secure facility. Due to a lack of placement options in the past, all juveniles who violated their parole were placed at the New Jersey Training School (NJTS) regardless of the seriousness of their infractions. This new facility has reduced the number of juveniles returned to NJTS and ensures that each juvenile receives the appropriate services.
